East End Single-Family Home Market Report

First Quarter 2014

EAST END SALES AND PRICES RISE FROM LAST YEAR'S LEVELS

In our first quarter 2013 report, we noted that tax law changes slated for the beginning of 2013 led many high-end sellers to close before the end of 2012. This unquestionably took many luxury sales that would have occurred in the first quarter of 2013, and pushed them forward to the fourth quarter of 2012. This had a dramatic effect on both the number of sales and prices in 2013's first quarter, driving both indicators to abnormally low levels.

As expected, the first quarter of 2014 East End statistics show a dramatic improvement over the past year. On the South Fork, the number of sales rose 38% from 2013's first quarter to 481. All price ranges of homes saw increased sales over this time, highlighted by a 147% jump in sales for $4 million or more. This led to a 27% increase in the average price in this area, to $1,785,168.

The North Fork, although not as impacted by the 2013 tax changes, saw its sales and average price also rise from a year ago. The 80 closings reported during the first quarter were a 13% improvement from 2013's first quarter, while the average price jumped 33% to $670,978.

Single-family homes sold for an average of $1,785,168 in the first quarter, a 27% improvement from a year ago. Increased high-end activity was the leading cause of this increase, as the number of sales of $4 million or more jumped from 19 a year ago to 47. The increase in luxury sales also pushed the total number of transactions 38% higher than 2013's first quarter.
