Brown Harris Stevens sales associate John Venekamp was awarded the elite distinction of "Christie's International Real Estate Luxury Specialist" following his participation in the second edition of the luxury real estate network's Top Agents Conference.

Venekamp was among the most successful real estate professionals within the Christie's International Real Estate network who took part in the symposium in Chicago on June 8-9. Criteria for participation in the Top Agents Conference required that each attendee be among the top 10 percent in sales volume of their affiliated brokerage.

The prestigious designations awarded by Christie's Education were presented to each of the attendees at the event's close.
