Mortgage Rates Rise as Fed Taper Begins

• Rates for 30-year conforming mortgages averaged 4.47% for the week ending 12/19/13, up from 4.42% the prior week, and 3.37% a year ago.

• The 30-year rate is at its highest level in 3 months.

• As expected, the Federal Reserve announced it would scale back its bond-buying program by $10 billion per month, as economic growth has strengthened recently.

City Employment Exceeds 4 Million in November

• Total employment in New York City rose by over 110,000 in the twelve months ending November, a 2.8% increase.

• Gains were led by the education and health services (+48,400) and leisure and hospitality (+26,700) sectors.

• The only sectors to lose jobs over the past year were state (-1,200) and local government (-2,300).

Economic Growth Stronger Than Expected

• Gross Domestic Product, which measures the value of all goods and services produced in the U.S., rose at a 4.1% annual pace in the third quarter, its strongest rate in almost 2 years.

• Initially, GDP was thought to have risen by 3.6%.

• While most of the growth is attributable to a buildup of inventories, both business and consumer spending were better than originally reported.
