

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

HOUSE OF THE DAY

A French-Inspired Home in Florida

Updated Feb. 28, 2018 11:19 a.m. ET

0 COMMENTS

Location: Coral Gables, FL Price: $4,250,000

Two architects designed and built this house in Coral Gables, which comes with a paneled library, oak trees and a terrace overlooking the pool.

Marlene and Sergio Artigues spent a year looking for the right place to build a home for their young family in Coral Gables, Fla. 'We stumbled upon this lot by coincidence. We were with a realtor and she showed us something not too far away and she said she'd heard about this other property coming on the market,' says Mr. Artigues. 'We came by and we were sold. It hadn't actually hit the market yet. We were at the right place at the right time.' BROWN HARRIS STEVENS MIAMI

1 of 14

